There are plenty of ways to whiten your wardrobe. At your favourite Cadillac Fairview shopping centre, you'll find everything from basic whites (underwear, t-shirts, and cotton socks) to luxurious whites (cashmere sweaters and angora gloves).

Holiday Tip from Experience: Do you wrap up all the presents you're giving friends and family and then hide them away in a closet until December 24? If so, it's time to put an end to this terrible habit! You spend all that time and money making your gifts look beautiful - start thinking of them as part of your seasonal décor.

What colours are most of your decorations and tree ornaments? Go out and search for matching wrapping paper, gift bags, ribbons, tags, etc. Whether in traditional red and gold or glittery blues and white, the best-dressed trees are decorated with matching gifts beneath them!

MERRY STRESSMAS!

In time for the holidays, Starbuck's Bearista Bear is dressed as Rudolph® the Red Nosed Reindeer. From the moment we saw him in the store, we knew this irresistibly adorable, 28th-edition Bearista Bear needed a home. We took him back to the office with our afternoon coffee.

WHAT AN INCENTIVE

So, the man in your life doesn't like to shop? When you want him to go with you to the mall, entice him with a relaxing après-shop massage. Make sure you have plenty of Fruits & Passion Men's Massage Oil. Available in three fresh scents (our favourite is spicy Vasco), he'll quickly forget about this heavy those bags he carried for you.

TREE TRIMMING TUNES

Need some music to keep you going while you deck the halls and the rest of your home?

You want to listen to Madonna - after all, you've been a fan of hers for twenty years) - but your tree-trimming teen wants to listen to Christina Aguilera, Britney Spears or Missy Elliot. We've found the perfect compromise! Madonna has gotten together with these younger divas for her newest release, Remixed and Revisited. Look

Feeling overwhelmed? You can't escape from your extra seasonal responsibilities and obligations, but every once in a while you need to stop and do something for yourself. Even a short half-hour break from holiday shopping, cookie baking, gift-wrapping, and everything else can make a huge difference.

Escape from it all by locking the bathroom door, dimming the lights, and soaking your stress in the tub. With Find Euphoria from Aveda, you can turn a basic bath into a relaxing ritual. One of many holiday gift sets, this has some of Aveda's most popular bath products: replenishing body moisturizer, soothing aqua therapy, an aroma candle, jutt exfoliating mitt, and more. You deserve euphoria.

HOLIDAY MEMORIES

Q: This year, my sister is finally able to visit me for the holidays. It's been years since I last saw her, but that doesn't mean I don't think of her often. What can I give her to let her know just how much she means to me?

A: The Memory Box from Bombay is a perfect present. Made of gorgeous mahogany, it has an engravable brass nameplate.

This is something your sister will cherish and use to store sentimental keepsakes. Get her started by filling it with a few small mementoes from the past - a letter she wrote years ago when you were at camp, a funny photo, or old concert ticket.

Depending on your budget, you can also enclose a new memory, such as an afternoon spa-for-two gift certificate - something to do together before she heads home.

...AND TO ALL A GOOD NIGHT!

Our Editor's Christmas Eve Experience: When I was a kid, everyone in my family would put the presents we were giving each other under the tree just before going to bed.

Even though Santa still had to come, we always wanted to start opening the gifts right away. My parents made it a holiday ritual to let us each open one gift before we went to bed. Every year, it was always the same thing - new pyjamas!

There was something comforting being in cozy new pj's while laying in bed listening for Santa. It also made the family photos we took the next morning unwrapping the gifts look extra special.
